F. DESIRED AGENTS

1. Successor Trustee—The trustee manages the assets of your trust. Both spouses typically act as co-trustees while you both are alive and competent. When the first spouse dies, the surviving spouse typically remains as sole trustee. You need to select a successor trustee to manage the assets of your trust for your benefit if both of you (if you’re both still living) or the surviving spouse (is one spouse has died) become(s) incapacitated. The successor trustee will also manage the trust assets for the benefit of your beneficiaries after both of your deaths.

G. DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS

1. After the death of the first spouse—Each spouse has the option to direct how his or her share of the trust assets should be managed after his or her death.

a. If Spouse #1 dies first:

Immediately upon his or her death, does Spouse #1 want to make a specific gift (cash or a specific item) to an organization or individual? Yes No

If yes, to whom? _____

Does Spouse #1 want the balance of his or her share of the trust property:

held in trust for Spouse #2, with the power to give the property to anyone Spouse #2 desires?

held in trust for Spouse #2's support during his or her lifetime, then distributed to the beneficiaries of Spouse #1's choice (which cannot be changed by Spouse #2)?

Other: _____

b. If Spouse #2 dies first:

Immediately upon his or her death, does Spouse #2 want to make a specific gift (cash or a specific item) to an organization or individual? Yes No

If yes, to whom? _____

Does Spouse #2 want the balance of his or her share of the trust property:

held in trust for Spouse #1, with the power to give the property to anyone Spouse #1 desires?

held in trust for Spouse #1's support during his or her lifetime, then distributed to the beneficiaries of Spouse #2's choice (which cannot be changed by Spouse #1)?

Other: _____

2. After the death of the surviving spouse—The successor trustee is responsible for ensuring the trust assets are distributed according to your wishes.

c. Distribution instructions—There are unlimited possibilities for how trust beneficiaries can receive their shares of the trust estate. Below are some of the more common instructions used by our clients. You can choose one of these options as written, use a combination of these options, or create an entirely new set of instructions. Talk to your attorney if you're unsure or need additional guidance on how to decide on instructions that best suit your wishes.

How do you want your beneficiaries to receive their share of the trust estate?

Each beneficiary is to receive his or her share outright and free of trust immediately.

Each beneficiary is to receive his or her share outright and free of trust as soon as the beneficiary has reached the age of _____.

Each beneficiary is to receive his or her share in stages (i.e., one-third at age 25, one-third at age 30, and one-third at age 35): _____

Each beneficiary's share is to remain in trust for the sole benefit of the beneficiary during his or her lifetime. At the beneficiary's death, his or her share is distributed as the beneficiary shall direct.

Each beneficiary's share is to remain in trust for the sole benefit of the beneficiary during his or her lifetime. At the beneficiary's death, his or her share is to be distributed to the beneficiary's then-living children.

Other: _____

3. Intentional omissions—Are there any relatives that you specifically do not want to receive anything from your estate? Yes No

If yes, name(s) and relationship(s): _____
